

Summary

I am a Junior Full-Stack Developer looking for my next challenge.

A 2:1 BA(Hons) Media Production graduate and recent Full-Stack (MERN) Developer graduate, the relationship between media technology and design has always inspired me - from customising my first Myspace page to building websites for employers and private clients, the relationship between functionality and aesthetic, and finding the right balance, has been a challenge I enjoy rising to. My blend of technical and design skills are well suited to Full Stack development, and the spread of my recent studies has given me a strong understanding of each stage of development project lifecycles.

In a variety of industries, I have honed vital transferable skills such as; excellent communication, efficient workload management with tight deadlines, and a razor sharp attention to detail which makes for successful and rapid problem solving. I am a strong team player who is eager to lend a hand wherever needed to reach our goals, but I can also fly solo and work under my own steam and initiative when required. What sets me apart from other applicants is my fierce tenacity and ability to learn at lightning speed and really hit the ground sprinting.
